Wide gaps in access to medical oxygen continue to cause widespread suffering and death...

Lack of access to safe, quality, affordable medical oxygen is contributing to hundreds of thousands of preventable deaths each year and reducing quality of life for millions more, according to the final report released by the Lancet Global Health Commission on Medical Oxygen Security.

Join a special workshop on the eve of the Consortium of Universities for Global Health (CUGH) conference in Atlanta, Georgia, to:

- Learn about the Commission's key findings and recommendations, including the size of medical oxygen coverage gaps and the cost of closing them
- Discover the Commission's new tools, including an Access to Medical Oxygen Scorecard (ATMO<sub>2</sub>S), 10 Oxygen Coverage Indicators, 20 Priority Areas for Oxygen Innovation, and more
- Support the global effort to ensure that no more patients die for lack of access to oxygen – an essential medicine to save lives now and during future public health emergencies like COVID-19
